Facility Snapshot/Description

The West Texas Detention Facility is located in Sierra Blanca, TX, approximately 84 miles southeast of the El Paso International Airport. The facility is owned and operated by LaSalle Corrections whose headquarters is in Ruston, LA. The Hudspeth County Sheriff's Office has an IGSA with the U. S. Marshals Service (USMS) and ICE houses detainees at the facility under the auspices of that IGSA. [REDACTED]

The facility was constructed in 2004; new construction added [REDACTED] in 2008. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] ICE detainees are housed in four Quonset hut style buildings located outside of the main building but within the secure perimeter of the facility. Each Quonset hut contains two dormitories, one on each end of the structure. Seven of the eight dormitories have a capacity of 105 beds and one has a capacity of 109 beds. Each dormitory is under 24-hour direct supervision of an officer. The facility also has a restricted housing unit which contains 24 single bed cells.

Each of the general population housing units for ICE detainees has a dayroom area, two televisions, five telephones, various board games and one microwave oven. Detainees have access to one of five large outdoor recreation yards at least one hour each day.

Numerous detainees were interviewed during the inspection to include seven private and confidential interviews which included both male and female detainees who spoke limited or no English. The detainees voiced no concerns regarding life/safety issues. Detainees were generally satisfied with the interaction, responsiveness and professionalism of facility staff as well as access to medical services, the law library, telephones and recreation. The majority of staff assigned to the facility speak both English and Spanish which facilitates communication amongst the primarily Spanish speaking detainee population.

Some detainees voiced complaints about the quality and quantity of the food. The Safety SME confirmed that the menu and food portions meet the nutritional requirements as approved by a registered dietitian. No problems with food quality were observed; food preferences range widely depending on the country of origin and may account for some of the dissatisfaction with food offerings.

Two of the female detainees interviewed stated they did not have a local handbook. The classification case manager was contacted and provided each of the detainees a handbook.

Sanitation throughout the facility was observed to be average. Overall, the atmosphere at the facility was generally calm with no obvious indicators of high stress.

Health services, with the exception of physicians who provide services via a contract, are provided by LaSalle Corrections. The facility does not charge co-pays for medical, mental health or dental care.

Detainee telephone services are provided by Securus Technologies.
