Facility Snapshot/Description

The South Texas Detention Complex is owned and operated by The GEO Group, Inc. The facility is located sixty miles south of San Antonio in Pearsall, TX. [REDACTED]

The facility is a linear structured building with all support services, administrative offices and housing units accessible off one long central corridor. The facility is enclosed by two twelve-foot chain link fences, which are supplemented with razor ribbon and a microwave detection system centered between the fences, which provides detection for the entire perimeter. There is a paved perimeter road around the compound that is patrolled by an armed officer 24 hours a day. There are 246 surveillance cameras which monitor the entire perimeter, and critical movement and common areas inside the facility.

The facility has 26 general population housing units configured into dormitory settings ranging from 64 to 100 beds. Five of the housing units were quarantined during the inspection due to a mumps outbreak. The day rooms are furnished with televisions, telephones, tables with fixed seats and ample open space. Each detainee has a personal property storage locker and is provided a combination lock at no charge. The special management unit is divided into two separate units; a 32-bed male unit at one end of the facility and an 18-bed female unit at the opposite end.

The atmosphere in the housing units was relaxed and muted. Detainees were communicative when approached by staff and they chatted freely with the inspectors. The inspection team interviewed several male and female detainees publicly and privately in segregation, the housing units, in intake, on work assignments and in the medical unit. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Interviews were conducted with the assistance of bilingual staff and use of the language line. Throughout all detainee interviews no substantive complaints or concerns were registered when questioned about personal safety, treatment by staff, medical care, asylum requests, consulate/court access, ICE services, visiting privileges, law library access or food services. All detainees have access to indoor/outdoor recreation every day.

Security staff orchestrate the daily schedule in choreographed escorted line movements from housing units to program and activity sites. Most staff are bilingual and manage the demands of their posts with no sense of importunity.

Medical services are provided by IHSC uniformed and contract personnel. There are no medical co-payments. Food and maintenance services are provided by GEO personnel. The facility maintains an above average level of cleanliness.
